

Special Opportunity for EuroBio Participants to join the Tech Transfer Summit 6-7 October 2008

Getting Science off the Bench and Creating Value

The European Federation of Biotechnology and Tech Investor Ltd. have specifically developed the TTS with your sector in mind. At the TTS you will interact with senior figures from international tech transfer organizations, large multinationals, the financial sector and representatives from research institutions and tech transfer offices alike. You will hear and participate in focused discussions and deliberate over disseminated knowledge and expertise on issues specific to the tech transfer sector that are critical the instigation of real-time business opportunities.

The line-up of speakers is un-precedented anywhere and presents the best source of expertise in biotechnology transfer available anywhere – don't miss it! Some of those sponsoring and participating include:

Pfizer, Boehringer-Ingelheim; Office of Tech Transfer, National Institutes of Health (NIH), USA; AstraZeneca; Procter&Gamble; Johnson&Johnson; Monsanto; Nestle; Association of University Technology Managers (AUTM), USA; Licensing Executive Strategy (LES); TVM Capital; Ventech; Ipso Ventures; European Venture Capital Association (EVCA); Cannacord Adams; Deutsche Bank; Technology Innovation International (TII); Neil Gerber Eisenberg LLP, USA; Keiretsu Forum and many more.

Numbers are strictly limited and there are just over 100 places remaining. To ensure value and access to all key stakeholders registrations have been extremely competitively priced. We encourage you to register for this high value 2-day Summit:

Academic or Non-profits	299 Euros
Start-Ups (see criteria on website)	399 Euros
Industry, Finance, Legal & Consulting	499 Euros

In addition, EuroBio 2008 participants are entitled to register for the very special low price of 299 Euros for industry, finance or government and 199 Euros for academia or non-profit. Please enter the special partner code “EBIO” to benefit from these exceptional rates.
