

Valérie SABATIER

Valérie Sabatier is specialized in business models issues in the biotechnology industry. She takes part in the research of the Gael. The GAEL (Applied Economics Laboratory of Grenoble) Research Unit is an INRA and Pierre Mendès France University Laboratory. Its mission is to produce and disseminate scientific knowledge on innovation, the environment and industrial organizations. Valérie is also involved in Protein'eXpert and contributes to the process of strategy thinking. Valérie Sabatier teaches innovation and business plan at Grenoble Ecole de Management. She graduated in biochemistry (University Montpellier II) and holds a master degree in business administration from Grenoble Ecole de Management (Grenoble Business School). Valérie is currently ending a PhD: "Value chain and cost of drugs: transformations in the biotech industry".